

The Yorkshire Family Business Network Launch

Langleys Solicitors and The Family Business Network Ltd invite you to the kick-start of the shared peer to peer learning network exclusively developed for family businesses.

From a successful Cumbrian initiative, award winning entrepreneur and trusted family business ambassador Sue Howorth and the go-to creative family business strategist Dave Clarkson, comes the launch of The Family Business Network into Yorkshire.

The aim of the network is to deliver a safe and trusted environment for peer to peer learning; creating experiences of value and insight for family businesses and the generations working within them. Insight days, topical family business workshops, a bespoke conference and plenty of sign posting and support for assistance, advice, mentoring and investment channels are all designed with family business needs at their heart. There will be plenty to look forward to and access from September 2018.

A full line up of family businesses will be there to share their stories, and further speakers will introduce insights into the highs and lows of being part of a family business.
